Dear Mr Knox

Robert Macbryde – Still Life with Avocado Pears

It has been on my mind for some time a check with you as to the whereabouts within your collection of the Macbryde painting I loaned to the Fleming Collection some years ago. I think a couple of years ago it was hung at the Caledonian Club and may be still there? Selina Scott was kind enough to feature it in one of her last exhibitions at the gallery but it was not included (sadly) in the Colquhoun and Macbryde exhibition in Edinburgh a year or two ago. Philip Harley at Christie's valued the painting in November 2014 at £30,000 - £50,000.

It is a great pleasure to receive Scottish Art News regularly although I regret living in Herefordshire I am unable to attend many events in London. I did however very much enjoy seeing the Fleming Collection pictures at the Barber Institute last year.

With best wishes

Sally Pim
